OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

To our MANRRS family

We are looking forward to seeing you all at the MANRRS 39th Annual Training Conference & Career Expo in the soulful city of Memphis, Tennessee, the birthplace of blues and rock & roll, and a city that echoes the themes of innovation, resilience, and transformation that define our organization.

MANRRS39 will mark a groundbreaking moment in our history. For the first time, we will be gathering in a convention center, a testament to our growth, increased engagement, and your record-breaking participation. This momentous occasion aligns beautifully with this year's theme, "I Am, Because You Are." It reflects the collective power of our community, where every member's success is built on shared support and collaboration. Your representation, advocacy, and commitment to our shared mission of changing the face of the industry, encapsulates MANRRS' commitment to building and sustaining a legacy of mutual respect, shared success, and collective progress. MANRRS continues to stand as a beacon and premier organization for various communities and groups. Our work is more critical than ever, as we advocate for representation, equity, and inclusion in the spaces where decisions are made and futures are shaped. As we prepare for our time together in Memphis, we celebrate our intentionality in being visible, elevating the membership experience, and strengthening the bonds that make us a force for change.

Throughout the year we have maintained consistency in our dialogue with partners, government officials, senior leaders and aspiring supporters that action-driven conversations are pivotal in shaping meaningful progress and success for our organization as we continue to champion for diverse voices in these spaces. At this year's conference, we are thrilled to engage with our partners and senior leadership across industries, fostering conversations about the future of our workforce and ensuring that our voices are heard at every level. These collaborations empower us to chart bold new paths, positioning MANRRS as a leader in cultivating talent and advancing opportunities for our members. I challenge you to connect with MANRRS members from the past and present. Share your stories, celebrate your experiences, and if you are new to the MANRRS family, you are in for a treat. Thank you for being a part of this historic gathering.

It has been my absolute honor to serve as your President this year. Your presence affirms the strength of our mission and the impact we create together. Let us use our time together to learn, connect, and inspire one another as we continue to make strides toward a diverse, brighter, and more inclusive future. I AM MANRRS, YOU ARE MANRRS, WE ARE MANRRS.

AN OVERVIEW OF MANRRS HISTORY

In the early 1980s, a concerned student, Dave Weatherspoon, recognized the need for a support group for minority students in agricultural programs at Michigan State University (MSU). With the help and guidance of a sensitive college advisor, Eunice Foster, he set out to form such a group on his campus. From these efforts, the Minority Agriculture and Natural Resources Association (MANRA), a registered student organization in the College of Agriculture at MSU, was founded in the spring of 1982. News of MANRA reached a staff person whose responsibilities included promoting participation of minority students in agricultural sciences at The Pennsylvania State University (PSU). In 1985, after a series of communications between institutions, representatives of MANRA and their faculty mentor visited PSU to help form an organization for minority students in its College of Agriculture. Out of this meeting, Minorities in Agriculture (MIA) was formed by the Penn State group. Dr. William Henson served as the first advisor for this group at Penn State.

In April 1986, MANRA and MIA jointly sponsored “The First Annual Conference of Minority Students in Agriculture and Natural Resources” at MSU. A primary focus of the conference was the problem of how to organize student disciplinary interest groups on university campuses. Over 40 students and faculty from six colleges participated. The second conference, also sponsored jointly by MANRA and MIA, was held, April 1987, at PSU. More than 60 people from 11 colleges, six government organizations, and five private organizations participated. The third conference was held at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore, April 1988. This was a pivotal meeting for the formation of MANRRS. Student and faculty representatives from all 1862 and 1890 land grant colleges and universities, including Tuskegee University, were invited. Representatives from interested public and private agencies were also invited to participate.

9th Annual MANRRS INCLUDES Summit

The Summit IS NOT included with conference registration. This event is an ADD-ON and can be added to your full registration or attended as a single event.

Regular Rate: $300

The MANRRS INCLUDES Summit provides a forum for robust and informed discussions among university faculty, government leaders, corporate executives, and MANRRS members on building and sustaining a culture of belonging and engagement. This year's summit will feature dynamic discussions, panels, and workshops led by experts with firsthand experience in recruiting, retaining, and developing diverse talent.

At the conclusion of the summit, participants will gain valuable insights into fostering an environment where all individuals feel valued and supported. Attendees will build connections with professionals dedicated to cultivating inclusive workplaces and learn strategies to create welcoming spaces that empower success.

The summit is designed for institutional leaders, university administration and faculty, corporate executives, HR professionals, and those responsible for hiring and student academic success. We invite all leaders in agriculture, natural resources, and related sciences to join the conversation and contribute to this vital dialogue. Your voice matters as we unite under the theme, 'I Am, Because You Are.'

9:00 AM–9:50 AM

1A) IYDKNYK: The Fragility of Diversity Efforts

As efforts to disband Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) initiatives rise, it is imperative to examine their fragility and the role each of us plays in remaining accountable and sustaining their impact. This workshop invites participants to explore the challenges marginalized groups face as DEI initiatives are questioned, underfunded, or dismantled.

2A) Intersectionality in Leadership: Understanding the Impact of Race and Gender

This workshop delves into the concept of intersectionality, exploring how race, gender, and other aspects of identity shape leadership styles, opportunities, and challenges. It is perfect for aspiring and current leaders committed to understanding and leveraging the power of diversity to inspire innovation and equity in the workforce.

3A) Translating Experiences into Industry Competencies

Every experience you've had—whether in school, internships, community projects, or personal endeavors—carries unique value. But how do you effectively communicate those experiences to align with corporate expectations and competencies? Join us to uncover how your unique background can drive corporate success and position you as a standout candidate in any industry. Whether you're preparing to enter the workforce or aiming for your next career milestone, this session will empower you to confidently translate your journey into measurable impact.

With varied demographics and shifting expectations, it often appears that the inclusion of one group may result in the exclusion of another. However, differences don't have to cause division. Instead, understanding the value of diversity in the work environment can promote acceptance, respect, and teamwork. Through shared lessons and actionable principles, the L.E.A.D. Lens will inspire participants and equip them with tools necessary to reduce conflict, enhance collaboration, and increase performance.

10:00 AM–12:00 PM

L.E.A.D. (Leading & Engaging Across Differences)

Individuals in today's workforce currently face the challenge of learning how to effectively lead across different cultures, perspectives, experiences, and needs.

JUNIOR MANRRS CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Across the country, colleges and universities are establishing Junior MANRRS chapters to spark interest in agriculture and natural resources among middle and high school students. These chapters provide hands-on learning experiences, mentorship, and exposure to career pathways in the industry. Collegiate MANRRS members play a vital role as mentors, guiding Junior MANRRS students through service-learning projects, science fairs, and educational programs that connect their skills and passions to opportunities in agriculture.

This year, Junior MANRRS chapters are invited to take part in the 39th Annual MANRRS Training Conference and Career Expo! The Junior MANRRS Committee has curated an exciting lineup of activities designed to help students build leadership skills, tackle real-world ethical challenges, and connect with professionals and peers in food, agriculture, natural resources, and related sciences.

Through the High School Symposium and Junior MANRRS programming, MANRRS is committed to ensuring students see themselves in the future of agriculture. This conference isn't just about education—it's about empowerment. We're here to equip students with the knowledge, resources, and networks they need to thrive in college and beyond. By planting seeds of opportunity today, we're growing the next generation of agricultural professionals, scientists, and leaders.

The future of agriculture starts with our youth. Let's support, guide, and inspire them as they step into their potential!

13. Impromptu Public Speaking

The MANRRS Impromptu Public Speaking Contest is designed to develop the ability of all MANRRS members to express himself or herself on a given subject without having prepared or rehearsed its content in advance. This provides the MANRRS members an opportunity to gain public speaking skills and effective quick and critical thinking as they formulate their remarks for presentation in a very limited amount of time. The event requires students to think on their feet, state their case quickly and persuasively, and to be able to answer relevant questions from the audience and judges based upon their presentation. Regional winners were selected from the regional clusters and compete in the national competition.

Awards:

1st Place: Monetary Award and a certificate
2nd Place: Monetary Award and a certificate
3rd Place: Monetary Award and a certificate

14. Agriculture & Science Photography

The purpose of the MANRRS Photography Contest is to provide MANRRS members the opportunity to express their love for agriculture and related sciences in an artistic form.

The National Executive Committee will determine the top five photographs in the preliminary round to advance to the National Conference. The top 5 finalists' entries will be displayed and voted on by conference attendees via electronic voting. The overall winner will be announced at the Closing Gala Dinner, Saturday, April 5th.

Award:

- 1st Place: Monetary Award and a certificate

15. 2026 Theme

The MANRRS Executive Committee is soliciting your recommendations for the theme of the next Annual Training Conference and Career Expo. All MANRRS members are encouraged to enter this contest.

Submissions will be voted on by the National Executive Committee. The theme with the most votes will be announced at the Annual National Conference. The overall winner will be announced at the Closing Gala Dinner, Saturday, April 5th.

Award:

- 1st Place: Monetary Award and a certificate

16. CHAPTER OF THE YEAR AWARD

The MANRRS Chapter of the Year Award (COYA) competition was designed to promote leadership development among local chapters. Such development should further the goals and objectives of the National Society, as well as promote professional growth among local student members.

The chapters will be selected and rated on the following:

- Building chapter membership,
- Leadership development,
- Community service, and
- Promotion of the National Society.

Chapters competing in this contest should develop a Chapter Annual Summary.

Awards:
